

me with the preparation in being gospel-bearers. Believe me, God didn't transform me overnight, but this ministry allowed me to be exposed to what a true life of a Christian should be like: one that is in tune with God's desire of sharing Christ with others. Through this encounter, the Lord shaped me and molded me, and used the workers at Jesus Loves Chinatown to help fulfill the Great Commission.

I am so thankful that God does not require me to serve by my strength, but that He is always with those who faithfully and humbly minister the Word to others. Though I could share to you my testimony and how JLC helped me tremendously, and persuade to you the importance of gospel-sharing, that is not what can change a heart. Only the Lord can change your heart. For me, He used Jesus Loves Chinatown and Jersey Fire Outreach; but ultimately, what the Lord seeks is a humble and moldable heart that can be used to serve His will. If you are willing, He will certainly use you to “go therefore and make disciples of all the nations! And surely, He is with us, always, even to the end of the age” (Matthew 28:19-20).
